Ms. Arpaporn Lemubol is a Professor in Humanities and Foreign Languages at Mahidol University International College, Salaya Campus. She obtained her MA Degree in English Studies from the University of Warwick, UK and a BA Degree in English Language at the Faculty of Liberal Arts at Thammasat University. She is an expert in English, culture, and languages. She has published a series of books including Learning Thai textbook: "Sabai Sabai an Elementary Thai Course" co-authored with Professors Gerard Fouquet and Anchalee Pongpun from Mahidol University International College.

The role of cultural preservation and promotion of cultural heritage conservation, publishing and culture, desirable and sought after in today’s society. The realization of good citizenship. Discipline humane, moral, ethical and academic professions. Widens international understanding and appreciating cultural diversity, civilization, religion and philosophy. The traditions nice. Conference in conjunction with the brainstorming planning strategies, to arts and culture. Environment and local wisdom to publish all known. Lead to a focus on every unit and community integration occurs. Conservation, promotion and development of Arts and culture with a primary teaching mission. Research, development & academic services. As well as leading the development of network-centric learning and transfer. Cultural The life and wisdom of the community And a wealth of knowledge of the community. Encourage the mobilization of available resources. Resources that have been supported by public and private. As well as the cultural exchange activities between institutions in and abroad. To strengthen the culture. The national identity. And got a job writing textbook language is SABAI SABAI AN ELEMENTARY THAI COURSE published by International College of Mahidol University, The shop of Asia Books, Kinokuniya book shop and Chulalongkorn University Bookshop.